

Andi Stout, President

It sure was a busy January and February looks to be equally busy.

We had a great auction again this year on January 27th. Thanks to all those who attended, we raised over $28,000! I believe we all had a great time and now have our social calendars planned for the year. And I heard that the children had a great time at their auction! Thank you to all who planned the event and to all who attended.

I have exciting news to report: at the Escondido Planning Commission meeting on January 27th, the commissioners voted unanimously to recommend that the City Council approve the proposed annexation of land for the Oak Creek development and the development itself. Several people who have dealt with the developer, New Urban West, were very complimentary about them. And both the commissioners and the developer were very respectful and acknowledged those who are against the project and their passion. The next step is for New Urban West to go before the Escondido City Council on March 4th. Please plan to attend this meeting to support them. Note that this is a date change from what was reported in January's PrevUUs.

Many of us participated in the first Social Justice Discernment session last month. I must admit I didn't know what to expect, but I thoroughly enjoyed the session. We spent a good deal of the time listing all the activities in which Chalice participates, both now and in the past. What an amazing list! Please plan on participating in the sessions in February and March.

Here's to a happy and healthy new year to all of you.

Sunday Services

at 9:00 a.m. and 11:00 a.m.

February 1 – Rev. Sharon Wylie
"Imbolc Blessings"

Multigenerational Service

Imbolc is the Neo-Pagan celebration of the earliest signs of spring, an observance that lives on in our modern Groundhog Day. At this morning's service, we honor the goddess Brigid and receive her gifts of metalwork, healing, poetry, and compassion.

February 8 Elizabeth Bukey
"Looking In The Mirror"

Our internal state has a deep influence on how we experience the world. What do we gain through introspection and compassion for ourselves? Elizabeth will lead us on an exploration of these themes, with a special nod to what she has learned about the self from her dog.

February 15 Rev. Sharon Wylie
"Lead With the Body"

Chocolate and Berry Sunday

The poet Mary Oliver invites us to "let the soft animal of your body love what it loves." But religion has sometimes taught that our bodies are to be mistrusted. Today we explore the connection between body and spirit and discuss what it means to live an embodied life. Please bring chocolate or berries to share during social hour.

February 22 Rev. Sharon Wylie
"Cultivating Creativity"

Living whole-heartedly requires us to cultivate creativity and to let go of comparison. This is the sixth in our 10-part sermon series inspired by the book "Gifts of Imperfection" by shame researcher Brené Brown.

Religious education for ages 4 and older is provided during the 9 am service.
Childcare for all ages is available at both the 9 am and 11 am services.
Spirit of Chalice meets in the cottage during the 11 am service.
Chalice High School Teen Group meets upstairs during the 11 am service.

PrevUUs is published monthly by the Chalice Unitarian Universalist Congregation and distributed electronically to members. To receive a paper copy in the mail, please contact Kathleen Swift, Chalice Office Administrator.

Board of Trustees Meeting Highlights

January 2015 Board of Trustees Highlights

- Jason Han of New Urban West requested our help in disseminating invitations to a dinner that will be held prior to the Escondido Planning Commission meeting vote on Tuesday, January 27th.
- Manuel reported that collections from pledges have increased and expenditures are as expected. Assets of 105K have been moved to increase interest earning.
- Rev. Sharon will attend the "Moral Injury and Soul Repair" conference January 29-30th.
- Rev. Sharon will attend the UU Ministers Association Center Institute for Excellence in Ministry February 2nd – 5th.
- Ten people attended the "Chalice Orientation" conducted by DCL Elizabeth on December 14th.
- Chalice's revamped website is coming soon.
- The Board held a visioning discussion regarding the Pastoral Care Program. We reviewed the brochure and it was suggested that it be available on the front patio as well as in the back of the chapel. A question was raised as to whether people who might want to attend services or events have requested rides. The Board will check with Hope Campbell. It was noted that Chalice's change to a Program church entails changes to the roles of both the Minister and the congregants that may need to be clarified.
- Three task forces reported progress.
- A Bylaws Task Force was established to identify any recommended changes by April.

Coordinating Team (CT) Report

January Coordinating Team Highlights

The Coordinating Team coordinates, integrates, and advocates the methods for accomplishing the Congregation's goals in accordance with the Board's Policies. The Coordinating Team is composed of Delynn Kelly, Callie Leef, Kathleen Swift, and Rev. Sharon Wylie.

The Volunteerism Task Force (assembled by the Coordinating Team) includes Deb Coon, Colette Jones, Ann Cunningham, and Peter Armstrong.

The topic for our January 17 Council of Chairs of meetings was Policy Governance, including a review of the report from the Size Transition Task Force. Andi Stout, Susan Spoto, and Tom Carlstrom helped lead the training.

Minister's Message

Beloved community,

If you were at the 9 a.m. worship service on January 25, you may have seen me almost fall off my chair on the chancel. I did not fall all the way off, thankfully, but I definitely “careened,” and had to verbally reassure everyone that I was okay. I proceeded to giggle for the next 15 minutes or so; I couldn’t believe that even after several years of leading worship, something so silly and unexpected could happen.

And why did it happen? Because I wasn’t paying attention.

The chair, you see, was about a foot to the left of where it normally is. That’s all, just a foot. And I, returning to my seat after speaking the call to worship, was fussing with the papers in my portfolio. Not paying attention to the actual location of the chair, I sat where I usually do, and almost fell onto the floor.

Then I was so amused and giggly for so long that I forgot I needed to put on my headset microphone until it was actually time for me to start preaching, and so I needed to rush to get that into position. All of this while I was leading worship, an hour when I hope to be my most attentive, my most “in the moment,” my most mindful.

Jon Kabat-Zinn, the founder of Mindfulness-Based Stress Reduction, defines mindfulness as “paying attention on purpose, in the present moment, and nonjudgmentally, to the unfolding of experience moment to moment.”

Mindfulness doesn’t come easy to me.

It doesn’t come easy for most of us, I imagine. My particular problem is that I often live fully in my mind, engrossed in my thoughts. Sometimes my husband talks to me, and I don’t hear him at all because I am thinking about something. I was giggling during worship because I kept re-living in my mind my own awkwardness with the chair.

Mindfulness practice is something I delve into periodically. My incident with the chancel chair may be a sign that it’s time again.

- continued above right—

Studies show that mindfulness improves memory, focus, and cognitive flexibility. It also helps reduce stress and emotional reactivity. If you are interested in learning more about mindfulness, remember that we have three meditation groups:

Zen Meditation meets Thursday mornings in the Cottage from 8-10 a.m.

Women’s Meditation & Study Group meets Thursday mornings in the Chapel from 10:30 a.m. to noon.

Zen Meditation meets Sunday afternoons in the Cottage from 3:30-5:30 p.m.

Bright blessings, Sharon

Sisters in Treble will perform at Pilgrim UCC in Carlsbad at 2:00 pm on Saturday, March 7th. Please come hear this all female vocal quartet (featuring Amy Wrench, Lena Wellman, Deb Coon and Wendy Metzger) perform madrigals and other delightful tunes to ring (and sing!) in the Spring. Susan Spoto will join the Sisters on flute. Other instruments will include piano, cello, drums and stand up bass. Free will offering will be taken to benefit Interfaith Community Services. Please bring a goodie to share for reception in Pilgrim Hall following the concert.

Recital of Women Composers

Did you know that March is Women's History month? Throughout most of the history of Western Music, the social and political environment discouraged and restricted the activities of many women composers. In 1828, Abraham Mendelssohn told his gifted daughter Fanny: "You must prepare more earnestly and eagerly for your real calling, the only calling of a young woman—I mean the state of a housewife." This oppressive mentality prevented many creative women from pursuing musical careers as performers and composers. Gradually, as societies have evolved, the music of many gifted female composers of the past has come out of the shadows, although much of their music is still largely unknown and ignored even in our modern culture. Even today, many parts of the music industry are still dominated by males.

On Sunday, March 29th @ 2:00 pm, Chalice will present a recital of music for piano and voice, composed by creative and gifted women over the last 200+ years. In addition to Fanny Mendelssohn, whom you just read about, we will also feature the music of Clara Schumann, American composer Amy Beach, French composers Cecile Chaminade and Lila Boulanger, and Broadway composers and lyricists such as Lucy Simon and Marsha Norman. We will also feature modern songwriters like Carole King, Cyndi Lauper, Emily Saliers, and many others. Along with the music of these gifted women, we will offer some insights into their lives, as they fought to be heard.

During this special performance, we will be taking a free-will offering to benefit Girls Inc. of San Diego County, one of Chalice's charity partners. For over 40 years, this organization has been empowering girls to reach their full potential. The recital is free, and 100% of the profits from our collection will go to this worthy cause. March is Women's History Month, and this performance is an opportunity for us to harness the power of music to touch lives and make the world a better place.

Cabaret 2015 – Cabaret's 10th Anniversary!!!

Mark your calendar for Cabaret 2015 on the weekend of October 1-4. Cabaret is Chalice's own show of shows — a multi-generational Broadway revue with Chalice members and friends in full costumes, acting, singing and dancing on a stage that we magically build from scratch! Our little chapel is transformed into a Cabaret theater, and more than half the congregation gets involved in one way or another. Stay tuned for news in the coming months as we choose the theme, announce auditions and eventually begin creating a show. Proceeds from Cabaret will benefit Chalice and a charity yet to be chosen. No matter what your talents, we can use your help in Cabaret either on-stage or off! Contact Tim McKnight, Deb Coon [not for public version] or Andi Stout [not for public version] for more information.

Religious Education (RE) Committee

The Religious Education Committee supports the work of the Director of Religious Education. Committee members are Rev. Sharon Wylie, acting chair; Jackie Austin-Singer, Director of Religious Education; Victoria Cagle; Becki Collins; Jeff Heys; Lauren Schulz; and Barbara Schwartz.

Religious Education Program

RE has just begun our second Big Idea for the UU Discovery Program. The new Unit is based on our 6th Principle. We will begin by developing our own ideas about what makes a peaceful world. We will then focus on others who work for peace within our own congregation and also those throughout history who have made a difference. These sessions provide the groundwork for the final segment which is where we turn our focus to the future and how we can make the world a more peaceful place. Of course, we will also have a lot of fun!

Our Big Idea Project is to create a Peace Pole for our Chalice grounds that will serve as a reminder for us and the whole congregation that peace does begin with us. What can we do to promote peace?

If you would like to be a part of this, please contact me.
Peace, Jackie

Capital Campaign Update from Jim Idell

After a hiatus for the holidays, we plan to resume solicitations for the Multipurpose Building Project capital campaign in February. We have talked to about 2/3rds of the Congregation so far and received overwhelming support for the project. To date, we have received pledges for $914K and cash receipts of $435K. When added to the $250K Spirit Grant, we now have commitments for $1,164K towards the $1,400K that we need. Thank you everyone for your generous commitment to our future. Anyone with questions about the project or capital campaign please feel free to call [not for public version] or email me [not for public version]. Thanks!

Spotlight on Vito Rosselli

A boy of about 4 or 5 years old spies through a screen door. He is looking at his grandmother watering some plants outside with a hose. As the elderly grandmother places the hose down to go shut off the water, the boy's eyes begin beaming with opportunity. He slowly creeps out the doorway forming a brisk walk to the still spouting hose. He picks it up and gleefully turns it towards the unsuspecting grandmother, drenching her from head to toe. Without hesitation he drops the hose and runs inside knowing that consequences for his actions are about to be mandated on to him by the drenched matriarch of his family. With that thought in mind he turns the lock closed, a smile creeps over his mischievous face. That little boy was me!

I became a Bell Desk Manager at a hotel with over 1000 rooms on a 40 acre property. I was managing over 30 plus people and doing well financially but found that I was the unhappiest I had ever been. I decided at that point that enough was enough and no longer would life detour me from my dreams of going to school and working in a career where I felt I could make a difference in people's lives.

I graduated from College in 2012 at the age of 32. Having my daughters see me receive my degree is the greatest accomplishment thus far in my life and one that I hold very dear to me.

Hello Chalice! My name is Vito Rosselli and I am the new audio visual technician for services and other events. I cannot express my joy and thanks enough that I am a small part of the Chalice congregation. In the short time I have been here I have met some of the most talented, motivating, and loving people that I have ever come across. Everyone is beyond welcoming and I look forward to the weekly services with heightened anticipation every day we are not together. I am truly lucky and blessed to have you all around me!

My journey to Chalice has been a long and exciting trek through life. I am a single father of two amazing daughters Nina (11) and Ava (8). They are my reason for breathing every day and I could not ask for better children/friends than my two girls. It is because of them that back in 2009 I decided to go back to college and achieve my Bachelor of Science degree at San Diego State University in Television, Film and New Media. Before this time I struggled to find what made me happy in life. At 18 years old I was fortunate enough to land a position in the video game industry (the company made controllers and accessories for games) as a tester and technical support specialist. I worked my way up to a developer relations manager (I made sure our products worked with other company's games and systems) but found that without my degree the work load went up but the money did not. Around this time I began working as a bartender, abandoning my dreams of working in the entertainment field and getting a degree. In 2007

I landed my first position after college as a staff writer for a website called ablegamers.com. I wrote videogame reviews for gamers with disabilities, a very rewarding and challenging position. This was a very rewarding experience to be able to help someone else with my gifts of writing and research. Currently I have around 10,000 views on my articles and would love for any interested members of Chalice to go read them! After my time with Able Gamers I worked for Legoland as an audio visual technician for live shows and events. There I would put on shows for over 2000 people daily and loved what I was doing, but the compensation including the long commute from my home made it difficult to continue working there. I began bartending again after Legoland but knew in my heart that this was not something I wished to continue to do, and that is what brought me here to Chalice.

Well thank you for reading my story it means a lot! Eventually I would like to continue researching and writing for a cause greater than me, but until I find that opportunity Chalice has become a place to build upon my skills from a technical standpoint but more importantly from a personal and emotional level as well. That is something I can never fully repay and am forever thankful that you have let me into your

Set in the fictional small town of Grover's Corners, NH, it tells the story of the everyday lives of an average town's citizens in the early twentieth century (1901-1913). Our Town was first performed in 1938. It later went on to success on Broadway and won the Pulitzer Prize for Drama.

Chalice Readers

On February 27th at 7:00 PM at Chalice we will discuss Price of Civilization by Jeffrey D. Sachs. The author states "During most of my forty years in economics I have assumed that America, with its great wealth, depth of learning, advanced technologies, and democratic institutions, would reliably find its way to social betterment. Now I am worried about my own country. We need to reconceive the idea of a good society in the early 21st century, and to find a creative path towards it. Most importantly, we need to be ready to pay the price of civilization, through multiple acts of good citizenship: bearing our fair share of taxes, educating ourselves deeply about society's needs, acting as vigilant stewards for future generations, and remembering that compassion is the glue that holds society together."

Sounds kind of like what a UU based economic model might be like.

Come and make your opinion known on the 27th whether having finished the book or not. You've got questions? Email them to John Drewe at [\[not for public version\]](#).

Stitch? Knit? Crochet? Fiber Artists Welcome

The Fiber Arts Group meets on the 3rd Wednesday of each month at 2 PM. February's meeting will be on the 18th, in the Common Room at Chalice.

Fiber Arts (formerly the Chalice Knitters) is open to all crafters of any type. Do you: knit, crochet, quilt, weave, sew, make cards? The list is actually endless. Please bring your hand work to the meetings and join with like minded individuals for encouragement and wonderful conversation.

For questions, please contact Dianne Decker-Houser at [\[not for public version\]](#).

Social Justice Discernment

Join us on Feb 22 & March 22,
Sundays at 12:15

Our social justice discernment program is underway!

Thanks to all who have participated so far — either by attending the workshop on January 18, or by sharing your ideas with me and the planning team of Deb Coon, Michele Nelson, Jeff Heys, and Karen McComb.

Here's a recap: we met for about 90 minutes with Evan Junker of the UU Justice Ministry of California, who outlined some key concepts for effective and spiritual social justice work in congregations:

"Building Beloved Community" instead of "Saving The World"

MLK called it the "Beloved Community: it's about creating the world we dream about, and being in right relationship with one another." Rev. Deborah Holder, Meck Groot, and Hilary Allen are UUA staff who encourage congregations to use this as the basis for congregational social justice work. It's a paradigm shift, from focusing on saving or helping people "out there," toward relationship and "being the change we want to see."

Read more on their website: <http://bethelove.net/>

Focus

An excellent congregational social justice ministry is more than a series of projects or an attempt to fix as many social problems as possible. We are encouraged to focus on one or two umbrella issues — like immigrant justice, economic equality, environmental sustainability, or reproductive justice. Our work is to discern where we are called most, in this moment and in our particular community.

Balance

A balanced social justice ministry includes activities in five areas:

1. Service: helping meet people's basic needs (donating food to charity partners, collecting apartment essentials, serving dinner to homeless individuals, etc.).
2. Education: deepening our understanding of issues (panels, film discussions, justice book groups, RE programs for children, etc.).
3. Witness: fostering public awareness & working with the media (press conferences, marches, street theater, twitter campaigns, etc.).
4. Advocacy: influencing public policy (lobby visits, letter-writing, speaking at city council meetings).

5. Community Organizing: participating in grassroots organizations for local social change & empowerment (organizations like Justice Overcoming Boundaries & San Diego Organizing Project)

I encourage you to explore the website above and to begin thinking; are there any focus issues that you think we should start with as a congregation? How do you see that incorporated into the areas of a balanced program? What ideas do you have about how we can focus our efforts as a congregation? What kinds of process do you think would be appropriate?

Please come to the next two workshops: snacks and childcare will be provided. We have so much love to share, and I'm excited to find how we are called to do that.

With gratitude,
Elizabeth

SERVICE PROJECT: Spread the love: make a lunch!

Sunday, February 15, 12:30 at Chalice

Each morning Interfaith Community Services provides breakfast for approximately 150 homeless individuals. At the end of the meal they are also provided a sack lunch for later in the day. By helping with food, we will be supporting these individuals and families in their efforts to improve their lives. Providing lunch allows individuals to focus on other goals, such as finding employment, instead of worrying about their next meal. Contact Elizabeth with questions or to RSVP to help: [\[not for public version\]](#).

To increase community awareness and understanding of different faith traditions.*

January 2015

Dear POINT Young Adults,

The Poway Interfaith Team invites you to be a part of the Youth Planning Team and participate at the Spring Symposium on Sunday, May 3rd from 2-4:30pm. Our general theme will be:

"Mapping the Future – A Youth Perspective."
From the Youth, For the Youth!

We would like to know what YOU would like to say and/or do (project, activity) at the symposium. Out of the box thinking is encouraged!
Some thoughts to consider:

- How do you feel about your faith practices now that you are an adult or almost an adult?
- Do you see yourself continuing your practices as you have been raised, or changing them in some way?
- How do you feel about your exposure to other faiths as you were growing up? Do you wish it had been broader?
- How has exposure to other faiths affected your own faith?
- Where do you see "Religion" going in the next few years?
- Do you incorporate your faith values in your everyday world, at school, work or with friends?
- What do you think other Young Adults would like to hear?

We need your IDEAS of what you believe is important to say to other young adults and youth groups, as well as adults, that may be attending. The committee will take care of the logistics.

We invite you to a PIZZA Party IDEA Planning Meeting on February 8th at Ner Tamid Synagogue, 15318 Pomerado Rd. Poway, CA 92064 from 2:00pm-4:30pm.

You may want to consider this Symposium as a Service Project for school. We will validate the hours you spent on creating, planning and executing the Spring Symposium. For more information and to RSVP your participation by Monday, January 19th to Rev. Dr. Abigail Albert. Call 858-487-8885, or email revabigail.afc@outlook.com, or text cell 858-663-6681.
